IMPACT REPORT

Foreword

HANDEP 2020

I hope you are all doing okay in this unsettling time. After a great 2019 where we made a lot of positive impacts and a fantastic first couple of months in 2020, life gave all of us a lemon that we can hardly turn into vodka. For too many of us, 2020 will go down as the worst year in living memory. As we are transitioning to 2021, the COVID-19 pandemic seems to be entering the second wave in many corners of the globe. A lot of businesses have collapsed, people are suffering from depression, human connections are changing, and many lost jobs and loved ones. We suddenly need to put our lives on a pause.

The COVID-19 outbreak is a nightmare for many, including a small business like Handep. We, however, did not give up, we continue to move forward despite all challenges. Although adapting to the pandemic is no easy task, we did all we can to continue supporting our partner weavers and farmers and all our employees who make things possible. In our continuously collapsing world, radical changes are needed in the way we produce, buy and consume things. So, thank you for being a conscious consumer. Thank you everyone for your continuous support and love to Handep.

Upcoming Program

HANDEP MENABUNG

Our partner weavers face a problem with creating or managing their savings in a bank, due to the difficult access between the villages and a nearby town. We think having a savings account is important to have for rainy days and unforeseen circumstances. Therefore, we plan to create a program called “Handep Menabung” after a series of community consultation. Through this, we hope that we could educate and provide a goal-based saving services for our partners. The savings could be used for financing their children’s future education, house renovation, retirement funds, capitals for potential business ventures, etc.

Upcoming Program

PARTNERSHIP FOR IMPACTS

In 2021, Handep will be supporting the Canada-Indonesia bilateral project, Responsive Innovation Fund (RIF) for local economic development through sustainable craft commodity for rural livelihoods. Handep will design and implement a project on capacity building and access to market for artisans in 3 areas in Indonesia including Bali, Belitung and Banten.
